

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An object-oriented method and callback system are disclosed. One embodiment of the system, among others, includes a client class that is configured receive information corresponding to an event in an artwork of a microchip design.

- 5 The client class is configured to use the information to report on the event.